This is the week for worthy causes!

Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc.

CARMEL VALLEY'S nationally famous Dr. Frank Miller has been appointed to the advisory board of the Monterey Peninsula Committee of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc. This would seem an appropriate activity for a veterinarian authority.

But what about the two young ladies on his lap? Well, they're appropriate too, because the young Misses Elizabeth Kelly and Robin Rumble represent the Dormouse and the Rabbit, respectively from "Alice in Wonderland." And the theme of the annual Guide Dog benefit fashion show and tea this year is "Alice in Fashion Land."

Elizabeth, Robin and other members of the Pallet de Patrice will help carry out this theme. The event will take place at Del Monte Lodge on February 4 at 2:30 p. m. As in the past, a current membership in the organization will suffice for admittance. New memberships at $5.00 (or more if desired) are also encouraged to help meet the Monterey Peninsula's goal of training two man-dog work units at a cost of $1,850 each.

REMINDER: CVPOA Annual Meeting January 30

Notice of their annual meeting, to be held Thursday, January 30, at 8:00 p. m. in the Carmel Valley Community Center, was bulk-mailed to every home in Carmel Valley early this week. The complete list of nominees was included in the notice and also in last week's Outlook. Nominations will be accepted from the floor as per by-law.

BENEFIT FOR MARCH OF DIMES

From 10:00 p. m. to 2:00 p. m. last Sunday, all the "take" at Al 'n' Jack's Rocky Point was donated to the March of Dimes. To swell the proceeds, Jim Kelsey, who heads the drive in Carmel, found numerous other means of relieving the celebrating citizenry of dimes, dollars, and whatever. As a special feature, Luis Wolter (left) was fined $1 every time he LAUGHED. When Luis ran out of dough, Kelsey muzzled him. Just how much moola all this buffoonery netted for the Cause had not been fully tabulated at press-time.

NEW KIWANIS PROJECT: Hearing Aid Bank

To help needy children and senior citizens who need hearing aids but are unable to purchase them, the Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club is establishing a Hearing Aid Bank. Functions of the Bank will be to obtain hearing aids -- used or new -- from donors, recondition them, and redistribute to the needy. Worthy recipients will be suggested to the Bank by sponsors, such as teachers, doctors, ministers, and other service clubs.

"It is a wonderful thing to watch a youngster who has been having trouble in school because of a hearing difficulty, suddenly blossom, like from a C student to a B student, once he is fitted with a hearing aid," says Tom Waters, coordinator of the program, with characteristic enthusiasm.

"Many people have unused hearing aids in their possession which might be doing someone a great good," Tom explained. "Often-times, when a person dies, the widow or widower will simply keep the formerly used hearing aid simply for lack of anything useful to do with it. Here is a simple way to bring more health and happiness to someone."

Ordinarily it costs from $10 to $20 merely to have a hearing aid properly fitted, but the Kiwanians are locating both physicians and qualified technicians who will donate their services to the cause.

Waters was also enthusiastic that the Carmel Valley chapter of Kiwanis Club was appointed to start the program. "This is quite an honor as it makes us the parent club for the entire district," said Tom.

The public can help not only by locating any hearing aid no longer in use, but also by submitting the name of an individual in need of one. Information may be telephoned (OL 9-2405) or written to Tom Waters, Hearing Aid Bank, Carmel Valley.

Virginia Stanton, Carmel Valley's famed party specialist, shows Barbara Burdick some of the elegant edibles she plans for the Pro-Am Hors d'Oeuvres Contest which will be one feature of the Heart Fund Cocktail Party to be held at the Mark Thomas Inn this coming Sunday, February 2, from 5:30 - 7:00 p. m. The event is sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Hotel Association and all proceeds go to the Monterey County Heart Association. A $5 donation suffices.

BITS 'N' PIECES by Ye Editor

There are at present enough worthy causes and charitable drives on the Monterey Peninsula to make a three-ring circus seem static. Public-spirited citizens are being pressured at every turn into accepting more responsibilities than they care to assume. Everybody we see (like publicity chairmen) is in more of a hurry than he or she cares to be. The flurry of the holidays is past. Why is there no slow-down of pace?

May we suggest a brand-new non-profit cause? A Society for the Preservation of Volunteers and Donors. The first glittering event it should sponsor is an Evening of Peace. The idea is, you don't go anywhere. No one will knock on your door or phone you. Rather than fuss with table decorations or telephone lists, you just sit home and appreciate it. For this privilege, we suspect quite a few people would be willing to "shell out." The only catch is, we can't figure out how to ORGANIZE the thing. But we do think quite a few of our worthiest citizens might find it a welcome relief.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

For the purpose of enlightening newcomers, of whom there seem to be more and more, let us explain that the "lower" Valley means below, or west of, Farm Center, which is located 6 miles from the Valley entrance. "Upper" Valley means east of or above Farm Center, closer to Carmel Valley Village, which is located 12 miles from the entrance. To remember which is which, simply think in terms of sea level. Although the motorist is scarcely conscious of it, he is actually "climbing" toward the upper Valley when driving from Carmel.

NOT THAT BUSY!

Everybody who called Monday was mad at us. "I've been trying to reach you for hours," they scolded. "Your lines are always busy." Several callers had asked the operator to verify that the lines were in use and had been told that there was a conversation going on.

Well, there wasn't. Both lines were out of order simultaneously -- that of our business office in C V Village (OL 9-2300) and that of our editorial "workshop" near Farm Center (MA 4-8364). The "conversation on the line" was evidently because some lines were crossed! True, the two lines are necessarily, because of their locations, on different exchanges, so it was a real coincidence that both were snafu at once.

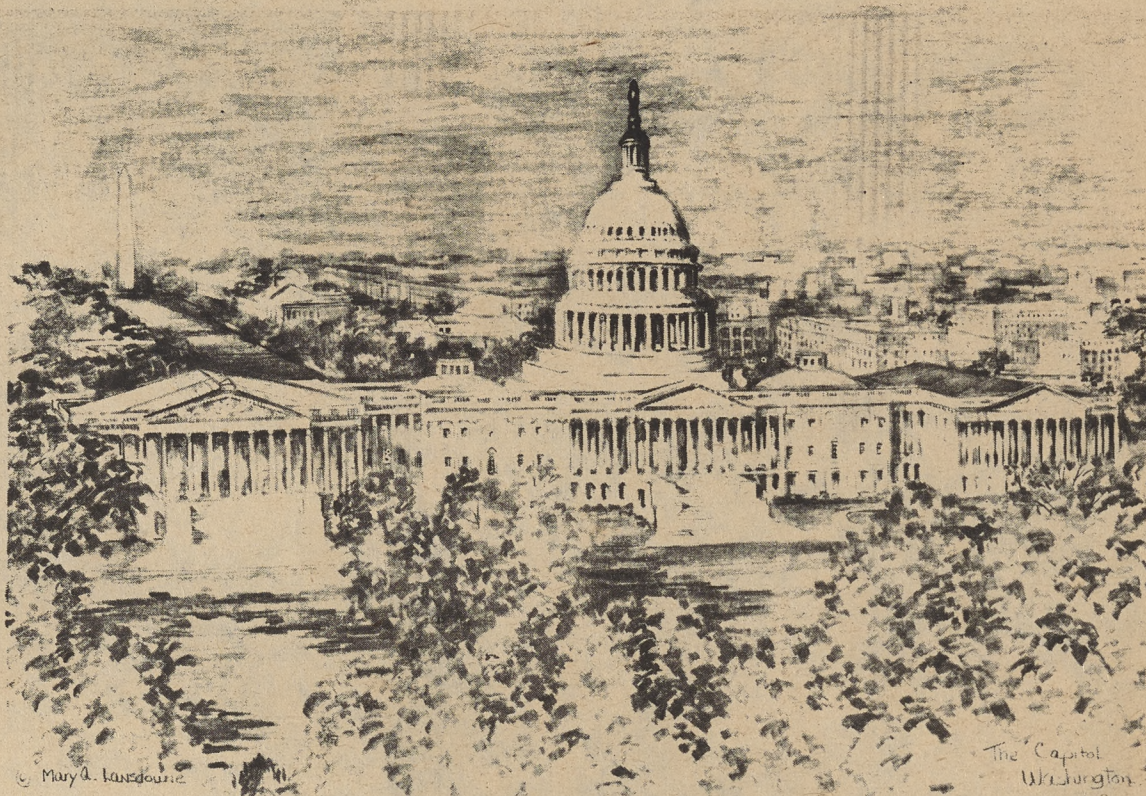

Since most of our news and advertising comes to us via telephone, we were just as unhappy about the situation as our would-be informants and advertisers.

WORD FROM SENATOR FARR

In a recent period of one week we counted 46 separate "canned" news releases (those which are mimeographed or even printed and sent to several or many different newspapers.) This was not an unusual week -- it was just that we decided this once to save them to make the count.

Some of these releases represented extremely worthy causes

More Talent Coming to Carmel Valley

Now It's Greeting Cards

"After 21 years of being absentee property-owners in our Valley, able to enjoy it only briefly between tours of Naval duty, we are now on our way to being permanently located with the rest of you fortunate" wrote Capt. McKinnon Lansdowne, presently of Bethesda, Maryland, when he sent his subscription renewal to the Outlook last week. After February 1, the Lansdownes will be at home at 4 La Rancheria, Carmel Valley. Capt. Lansdowne also enclosed "one of Mary Agnes' latest cards as a New Year's greeting from your nation's capitol," making it apparent that still another talented artist will be making her home here. The card is reproduced above; according to Outlook Art Director Barbara Williams, the print was made from a watercolor.

Major Billie Mans is chairman of the drive in the Valley this year, assisted by Mrs. Larry Cummings. According to Mrs. Cummings, the captains include Mrs. Jenny Tarbox, Mrs. Charles Gansel, Mrs. Jerry Petkus, Miss June Wood, Mrs. Tom Bottar, Mrs. Roe Mrs. Edwin McPhee, Mrs. Frank Crispo, Mrs. Sherman Blandin, and Mrs. Herbert Nelson. Mothers of all pre-school children are invited to bring them to the Well Baby Clinic to be held February 4 between 9 and 12 at the Community Center. Dr. Ronald Branson will be on hand to give advice on care and feeding and inoculations. First Aid

Members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department treated Craig Ladendorf for shock and concussion following an accident at his home on El Hemorro on playground equipment. Firemen transported Beverly Creighton of Hitchcock Canyon to the Monterey Hospital for treatment of a possibly broken foot. Firemen reported "no damage" from the fire in the circulating fan motor in the heating system at the home of Lt. Jerry C. Breast on Ridgeway and Country Club Drives. Firemen were called to Hitchcock Canyon by Mrs. John Mark to investigate a transformer explosion caused by arcing power lines.

Questions & Answers on Health Problems

BY JAMES J. SHORT, M. D.

A reader asks, "Does emotional stress raise one's cholesterol?" The answer is: Yes. It has been reported that emotional stress occurring persistently will raise the cholesterol level. People who live under considerable tension day after day, such as doctors or writers who have to meet deadlines, will show higher cholesterol levels in their blood than people who aren't exposed to a stressful way of living. There are many people who have a bear by the tail, so to speak. They're afraid to let go, so they hang on desperately. Many of these people have gotten in a way of thinking, working, eating, sleeping, drinking, and smoking which not only leads to high cholesterol levels but also to a general breakdown in health. They're in a rut and need a change of perspective. Many are too insecure to break off their way of life and reform their program. The occasional emotional episode which no one can entirely avoid is probably without great significance, so far as health and longevity are concerned. It's the high-strung, tense, compulsive character who really suffers.

It's of some interest also that stressful emotion very powerfully effects the clotting time of the blood. The blood has a 'much greater clotting tendency under stress. This is probably what accounts, at least in part, for heart attacks during emotional upsets. If only we could wipe out the blood vessel problem and keep everybody in a serene and happy mood, how the life span would increase and how much better this world would be as a place to live in!

Another questioner asks, "Is there any relationship between aching arms and heart trouble?" There may be. Angina pectoris, or a pain in the heart due to insufficient blood supply to the heart muscle, will often cause pain to radiate to the left shoulder and the left arm, sometimes to the finger tips. The right shoulder may also be involved, but rarely the right arm. The pain typically comes on during exertion, emotional stress or smoking. It's relieved by vaso-dilating drugs, such as nitro-glycerin. This drug is placed under the tongue and should give relief within a few minutes. It's often used as a means of deciding whether or not the pain originates in the heart muscle.

However, we must remember that not all pain in the shoulders or arms comes from the heart. Arthritis, calcium deposits, and gout are some conditions which cause such pain. Heart pain is apt to be episodal. That is, it comes on suddenly and is relieved by rest or nitro-glycerin. Pains from the other conditions are inclined to be more constant.

Last Saturday evening, the Unitarian Church of the Monterey Peninsula enjoyed a benefit performance of the much-praised current production of George Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance" at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. The house was filled, and members and guests agreed "it was a gala evening." Mrs. Robert O'Brien, wife of the Unitarian minister, is shown following the performance when the audience chatted with members of the cast. At right is Marcia Hovick, still in costume for her role as "Lena Szczepanowska", the wondrously self-sufficient lady acrobat who arrives as an uninvited guest via a plane crash in the gardens of a stuffy English family.

Frances Andrews Is Wed To Alton A. Hobgood

Jack and Margie Nielsen journeyed to Mill Valley for the recent wedding of their old friend Mrs. Frances Andrews to Alton A. Hobgood, a professor of English at San Francisco State College. With them, the Nielsens brought a tiered wedding cake made by Mrs. Baxter (Ruth) Myers of Robles Del Rio.

The double-ring ceremony was held at the home of the groom. Mrs. William Andrews of Newark was matron of honor; best man was Dr. Thurston Womack of Mill Valley.

The couple plans a honeymoon in Hawaii at Easter and will divide their time between their two "Valley" homes.

Longtime residents of Carmel Valley will remember Mrs. Andrews well. For seven years she published the now-defunct Carmel Valley News, but in July, 1959, suddenly startled localites one week by announcing its abrupt cessation. Since then she has lived quietly at her home on the Laureles grade between trips to far parts of the world.

Valley Women's Club Brunch February 5

BY MAI STEPHENSON

Wednesday, February 5th, is the day - eleven o'clock the hour. Carmel Valley Women's Club will have a Brunch at the Community Center on that day, and at that time. It will be a good time for members and guests to get together for a fine luncheon, and an afternoon of Bridge. Miss Bessie Irvin is in charge of the brunch, and Mrs. Howard Vail is Chairman of the Bridge. Members are asked to bring their own cards and tallies, and table covers. Members may make up their own tables, but if they just want to play, better call Mrs. Vail and give her time to make up foursomes.

This will be a good time to interest new members in the Club. Encourage the newer residents to join in the activity of the group, and thus begin to know other women in this Community. The Carmel Valley Women's Club welcomes our new neighbors, and cordially invites them to participate in the friendly association thus provided.

Electric heating is a hallmark of the modern electric home... and so easy to own! You save on installation expenses because no flues or chimneys are needed. Operation costs average only about 7½¢ per square foot per year! Choose from several maintenance-free electric systems with individual room controls: perimeter floor inserts, baseboard units (replaces regular baseboard), radiant cables in ceiling or space-saving wall heaters. Ask your electrical contractor for a free estimate on the heating plan that best fits your house.

January 30 is the first day for filing petitions for the April 14 election of city officials. Voters will be choosing three councilmen, a city clerk, and a city treasurer.

PLANCOM
The City Planning Commission has been kept busy of late, discussing plans for the new police station and corporation yard, and meeting with the City Council over the newest parking ordinance.

INTERIM ORDINANCE
City Attorney John Morse will present an interim parking ordinance at the City Council's February 5 meeting. This will provide temporary on-site parking requirements for proprietors and employees while the permanent ordinance is in preparation.

Kati Did It!

Dry Launching

Tall white sails unfurled against a backdrop of taller pines atop Ward Place (off Flanders Drive) in the Carmel Hills caused neighbors to gape last Saturday afternoon. The sailing dinghy "Whimsy," of the Wayfarer class, had a formal "dry launching" on the patio of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Miller. Above, Helen Miller is shown giving the "Whimsy" its first taste of moisture by breaking a bottle of champagne over its nose. About 40 guests, many of them associates of Mr. Miller's at the research office which Stanford Research Institute maintains at Fort Ord, were served champagne also, but in a less abrupt manner.

Adding to the unusualness of the scene was the great variation in the guests' attire. The invitations, elegantly drawn by Miller, who is Art Director at the research office, read "come as you are." Accordingly, costumes varied from ingenuous dungarees and pigtailed worn by Mrs. William Hazell to an elegant wool ensemble topped by a Garboesque hat, carried off superbly by Mrs. Richard Custer (Myrtlerose Craig).

The Millers have promised their friends a "wet launching" later -- down at the docks. Miller estimates that he put 600 hours of painstaking handiwork into assembling the dinghy from a kit. All those present agreed that the workmanship was superb.

the Outlook on

Carmel City News

FILING FOR ELECTIONS
January 30 is the first day for filing petitions for the April 14 election of city officials. Voters will be choosing three councilmen, a city clerk, and a city treasurer.

PLANCOM

The City Planning Commission has been kept busy of late, discussing plans for the new police station and corporation yard, and meeting with the City Council over the newest parking ordinance.

The architectural firm of Burde and Shaw is designing the much-needed new police station, which will remain at the old location of Mission and 7th. The corporation yard will be located on the corner of Junipero and 4th.

INTERIM ORDINANCE

City Attorney John Morse will present an interim parking ordinance at the City Council's February 5 meeting. This will provide temporary on-site parking requirements for proprietors and employees while the permanent ordinance is in preparation.

Kati Did It!

Marjory Lloyd, who has been Carmel Editor for the past year, is off to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, for a month's vacation with her husband, Frank.

During her absence, Kati Corsaut will be writing the Carmel section of the Outlook. A native of Carmel, Kati attended Carmel High School and majored in journalism at the University of California. Now she lives in Pacific Grove with her husband, artist Jesse Corsaut, and their year-old daughter, Jacqueline, who promises to be quite as pretty one of these years as our guest editor.

Carmelites with news to contribute can call Kati at 375-8142.

Bridge Luncheon

Tomorrow, January 30, the All Saints' Episcopal Churchwomen will hold a general meeting in the Parish Hall, Lincoln & 9th, Carmel. On the agenda is the approval of the budget for 1964. The meeting will begin following the Holy Communion Service at 10:30 a. m.

Luncheon will be served at 12:15. The price of the luncheon is $1.50 and the proceeds will be sent to the Churchwomen's missionary in South Africa, Miss Karen Bruckner. The public is invited. For reservations, phone Mrs. Burum (624-3698), Mrs. Fox (624-3738) or Mrs. Leachman (624-1129). Those playing bridge are asked to bring their own card and scorepads. A baby sitter will be available.

Diana Burk Will Wed Lt James McDonald

Diana Burk, daughter of Mrs. Harris Burk of Carmel and Mr. Peter Stuart Burk of Tucson, is busily preparing for her wedding February 1 to Lt. James Franklin McDonald, USAF.

Diana was the guest of honor at a shower given by Mrs. Diane Weaver McGukin on Monday. She has been sitting every day for a week for her portrait by Jesse Corsaut.

The wedding is to be held at the Carmel Mission with the reception following at the Officers' Club at the Presidio.

Diana graduated from Carmel High School in 1957, attended the University of Madrid, the Sorbonne, and graduated from the University of Arizona in 1962. She worked for the State Republican Central Committee Research Center in Sacramento, and the International Service Department of the Bank of America in San Francisco.

Lt. McDonald graduated from the University of Nebraska and Flight School at Williams Air Force Base in Phoenix, Arizona. He is currently stationed at Stewart Air Force Base, Tennessee, where the young couple will make their home after a honeymoon in Mexico.

Monthly Art Show

For a serigraph entitled "Canary Row", artist Virgil Thrasher of Monterey last week won first prize at the monthly art show held at Carmel Craft Studios under the sponsorship of Studio Art Supplies. Second prize, for an oil landscape, went to Annabell Ellett of Carmel. Professional artists judging the entries this month were Jessie Corsaut, Joe Feuerborn and Stephen Hennessy.

The show is held on the 15th of every month and is open to anyone. Artists wishing to exhibit merely bring their work to the Craft Studios on the day of the show. The studios open at 10:30 a. m. The deadline for entries is 3:00 p. m. Judging, always by a panel of professionals, is at 4:00 p. m. Besides prize ribbons, winners are awarded merchandise orders redeemable at Studio Art Supplies.

HACIENDA CARMEL

by Edward G. Petherick

ON T. V.

KRON-TV, Channel 4 of San Francisco has just sent word that the film and interview made at Hacienda Carmel last fall will be shown on "Assignment 4" on Monday night, February 3 at 7:00 p. m. Channel 4 and MPC Cable #4 are identical so Haciendites are anxiously awaiting the big event.

DIME A DIP SUPPER

On Monday, January 27, members of Hacienda Carmel enjoyed a fine supper topped off with a large birthday cake to honor those members who had January birthdays. There were 125 members present. After dinner our member Chris Uklenberg showed a fine selection of beautiful colored slides covering his recent around the world trip to Ireland, Copenhagen, East and West Berlin, Turkey, Greece and India.

HORSE ON ME

A few weeks ago the writer wrote of Mr. Ed who paid a visit to Hacienda Carmel. I am now informed by Miss Darla Calabrese that I have my genders mixed up. That horse was none other than Mrs. Ed-na who was out hunting for Mr. Ed.

COMINGS & GOINGS

Jim and Angie Ballard arrived home on schedule and George Petty has come home to roost after spending some time with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shafer spent the New Year in Southern California and attended the Rose Bowl Parade and Game. George came home whispering. Yelled himself hoarse!

Dixie Nahl has returned from Hawaii after a visit with her family there. Dixie was gone about four months.

I noticed a man in the deep freeze unit on the alley at the rear of Carmel Valley Market. He was talking into a portable tape recorder! What next? I went to investigate and discovered that

AUTOMATION HAS HIT C. V. VILLAGE!

Inside the store were seven more tape recorders of varying sizes with seven men talking in a steady monotone: "27 at 12-1/2, 14 at 17, 23 at 42..... Next: Baked Beans" -- and so on and on!

Art Bennett explained that it would take them approximately 3 hours to tally accurately some $35,000 worth of stock at some $10 per thousand cost -- cheaper and MUCH faster than Art and his staff could do it!

I still say, what next?

Jerry Gerstl picked a couple of extra-handsome logs from his vast collection and split them with care to make rustic tables to go between the dryers at the beauty salon (formerly Tillie's Beauty Spot) now operated by his wife, Juliet. Into each table is fitted a sunken ceramic ashtray. Because the color scheme of the beauty shop is basically pink, Jerry wasn't satisfied with the famous Monterey Jade glaze on the ash trays made by Rudi and Nancy Marzi, who have the Monterey Pottery Studios, next door. So Rudi is obligingly custom-baking ash trays in the required shade. This you'll have to see!

Between neighborly chores of this sort and the sizeable supply of the Jade glaze pieces the Marzis constantly produce for stores throughout the Peninsula, Rudi has found time to evolve a brand-new type of darkly colored, roughly finished and strikingly handsome piece, Hand-thrown and one-of-a-kind, any one of these would make a worthy central feature on dining table, buffet or hi-fi cabinet. Seems to us they are particularly appropriate for the adobe or rough sawn wood homes which find favor in Carmel Valley.

One medium-large bowl in matte-finished red-brown has a splendid parade of horses in bas-relief on the outside and a bubbly sort of mustard-colored glaze within. A tall vase in a neutral clay has a bold but finely traced design in black, reminiscent of Spanish wrought iron. A low, wide bowl with dull, dark red gees from more "developed" areas of California, that the kind of growth so tragically typical of our native state has not really touched here yet -- but is hovering on the brink! We have now lived in Monterey County nearly 5 years, but for the decade previous as residents of Santa Clara County (Palo Alto), were witness to the incredibly rapid and hazardous growth of which the Senator writes:

SENATOR FARR

MONTEREY COUNTY POPULATION BOOM - WHAT LIES AHEAD FOR OUR AGRICULTURAL LANDS?

Agriculture is today the largest single income-producing industry in Monterey County; however, should Congress not extend the Bracero Program beyond this year (at present this appears to be a certainty), many of the farmers in the Salinas Valley will decrease their acreage and look for and encourage other uses of their farm lands, including subdivision, commercial and industrial use. This could result in a land boom that will parallel or even exceed that of Santa Clara County. Santa Clara County is second only to Orange County in rate of growth with a present population of some 800,000 people.

CHANGES

With the growth of industry in Santa Clara County, agriculture has become less important. In 1954, Santa Clara County had 100,000 acres producing fruits, nuts and berries. This was reduced to 86,000 in 1959 and consists of 62,000 acres today. On the other hand, there are 76 shopping centers either in operation or under construction or being planned in the greater San Jose area.

Throughout California 375 acres a day, or 140,000 acres annually, of our prime agricultural land is giving way to subdivision, shopping centers and freeways. The importance of a strong planning program and the preservation of open space cannot be too strongly emphasized. In Santa Clara County, for example, if all of the land put into urban use between 1947 and 1956 had been placed in one parcel, it would consist of only 26 square glazed interior flares out from a pierced base in natural-colored ceramic touched with black, would be stunning with either Spanish or contemporary-oriental decor. These handsome hunks of clay seem to average in the neighborhood of $15 apiece.

fact that there is not a single square mile in the 200-mile Santa Clara Valley area that is not invaded by one or more subdivisions.

PLANNING

Despite this rapid transformation from an agricultural to an industrial and commercial economy, Santa Clara County can still boast of being the largest dried fruit, canning and vegetable-packing center in the world. How much longer this will continue is questionable. Fortunately, a strong County Planning Commission in Monterey County can avoid many of the tragic mistakes made in Santa Clara County and other counties that were once the leading agricultural producers in the State.

Junior High Drama

"Many Moons," a tongue-in-cheek fantasy by James Thurber, will be presented by the drama department of Carmel Junior High School under the direction of Miss Diana Hardy on Friday and Saturday, February 7 and 8 at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday, February 9, at 3:00 p.m.

Billed as "a delight for children and adults alike," the play deals with a pretty princess -- just a bit spoiled -- and the perplexities of her father and the court jester when she falls into a decline because she can't have what she wants (the moon). Miss Hardy describes the play as "filled with gentle humor that often hits at one of those thought-provoking points for which Mr. Thurber was famous." Charlotte Chorpenev dramatized the tale.

The three performances will take place in Room C-14 at the Junior High, and seating is necessarily limited to 100 on each occasion. Tickets are 50¢ for adults and 25¢ for children of elementary school age or younger.

REVIEW

'Two Beans' at Tantomount

BY JANE CRANE

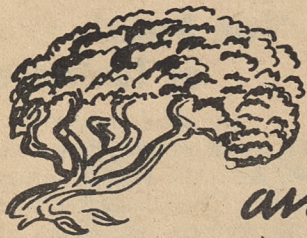

So many people were turned away from the puppet performances of "Two Beans" at Tantomount Theatre last month, that entrepreneurs Geddis and Martin scheduled repeat matinees last weekend -- and again, the beautiful little theatre was filled, and the audience delighted. Still another pair of repeat matinees are scheduled for February 1 and 2, and we would unhesitatingly recommend the program to adults and children alike, although youngsters under the age of 6 or so might not fully understand it.

As the lights went up on the small but elegant stage, disclosing 2 figures and an Oriental gate silhouetted against the sky, we were immediately transported to Korea. So deft are the players and so thoroughly have they mastered their art that this illusion is never lost until the tale is done.

Although the story begins in a minor key, and there is a definite moral to be drawn, it is full of humor: the bossy magpie and the busy earth-spirits are wonderfully funny. The tirades of the rich wife are a splendid matching of speech with furious activity.

The program is completed by three short numbers: The Rabbit Ballet, the Blue Danube Waltz, and The Trained Seal. Jacqueline Cornelius and Bernie Kilpatrick in the feminine roles provide fine support for the Master Puppeteers.

One must again marvel at the quiet brilliance of Geddis and Martin and be grateful that they have chosen to live among us here on the Peninsula.

Under the Oaks and Among the Cactus

by Mildred Hattan

One of the Valley's Senior Citizens celebrated her 85th birthday on New Year's eve with a party at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Florence and Carl Naslund. Mrs. J. B. (Verena) Franklin of Flight Road has one of the largest "adopted families" in the area including infants through adults who know what a really special person she is. Mrs. Franklin's sister, Ella and husband Jennings, arrived in time for the birthday festivities. The Seivers make their home in Austin, Minnesota. Also enjoying the midnight supper were Ruth Titus, Marjorie Ibsen, Irene Baldwin, Ruth Titus, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Heckenlaible.

Former Valley-ite Ashton Stanley, has just been named manager of Gene Autry's latest business venture, the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco.

The Kenneth A. Dickersons of Paso Mediano have returned from a holiday trip to Alice, Texas. Cecile and daughter, Denise, flew down to visit her parents on the 15th of December and were joined a week later by Ken who was tied up until then with classes at the Naval Post-Graduate School.

When Dr. and Mrs. Edward M. Arana drove to Sacramento last weekend to pick up their two year old daughter, Marit, who had been visiting her maternal grandparents, they were accompanied by their son, Marcus Cunningham. It was an exciting occasion for everyone since the 8 lb. little boy had only arrived at 11:29 a. m. on January 6 at the Community Hospital. The Arana family make their home at 107 Robles Del Rio.

Two hundred and seventy one members and wives of the Coast Counties Fire Departments (Santa Cruz, San Benito, and Monterey) met last week at Neptune's Table for a dinner party. The largest representation was from the Valley Volunteer Department. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. Don Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Danielson, Mr. and Mrs. William Conlan, Mr. and Mrs. Chip Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gorke, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hattan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gansel, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. John Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cummings, Mr. Ed Barker and guest.

Home from four weeks in the Islands is Ann M. Hurd of Country Club Drive. Miss Hurd made the trip with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hurd of Piedmont. They were guests of Mrs. Hurd's sister, Mrs. John Waterhouse, who lives in Honolulu.

They visited Maui, a seaside ranch on the Island of Kauai, made an early sunrise trip to the rim of Hale Kala Crater, and toured the Polynesian Center. Opened three months ago by the Mormon Church Enterprises of Oahu, the Center has accurately reproduced six villages showing six different Island cultures. It is staffed by natives practicing their arts and crafts. One of the most beautiful examples of architecture is the theatre where dances and native plays are in production.

Miss Hurd's recent Valley houseguest has been a long time friend, Miss Florence Boester, who after 19 years of overseas service has just returned from her assignment in the Far East office as director of International Social Services at the Tokyo Headquarters. Miss Boester left the Valley for Los Angeles where she will serve as the director of the International Institute.

A dinner party that has become traditional on Crosby Weekend was given by Mrs. Genevieve de Dampierre Casey at her home in Robles Del Rio. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Kirkbrides, Mr. and Mrs. Hartford Rapps, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Howard McGurins, Cynthia Philbin, Barbara Rolfe, Stuvesant Fish, Berens Nelson, and John Redington.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lundin of West Carmel Valley Road entertained during the Crosby Tournament weekend with a champagne-buffet supper for their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jansens of Park Merced. Attending were Mrs. Katherine Vinson, Mrs. James Duke, Mr. William Pentony, Mr. and Mrs. Don Laird, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Van Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Waters, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hattan.

Tularcitos third graders currently studying the Orient were treated to slides and a travelogue of Japan, when Mrs. Claud Dechow came to visit Mrs. Viola Bellemann's class. The latter invited Mrs. Betty MacGowan's group to join them.

Mrs. Edward Lloyd of Laurel Drive has returned from a week's visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Eleanor Hinch. Faye sounds like a field representative of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce when she sings the praises of Valley sunshine after a full week of fog in Selma, California.

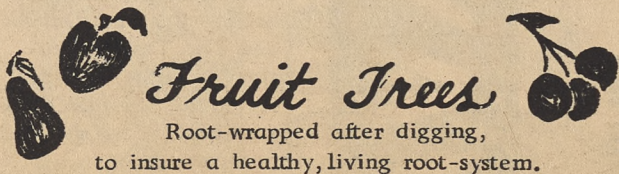

Guests invited to "Come as your suppressed desire" found their host and hostess, Elsie and John Dryden, portraying the leading characters from "The King and I." First prize for the best costume went to the birthday guest of honor, Doris Anderson, who was dressed to the nines in a plumed hat and jeweled dress as a tribute to Mrs. Astor. There was evidence in all the decorations of Mrs. Anderson's fancy for poodles including a large white fluffy one hanging above the dining table. The birthday cake was "Lady Crinoline with a blue French poodle!" Other guests arriving at the Dryden home on Miramonte included Johnny Anderson (in kilts) and his wife Lee as a ballerina; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson (she was a Dutch girl) and their niece Jeanette as a gypsy; Peter Roberts came as Al Jolson; and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Todd as a gypsy and a bug hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. SuKim wore their beautiful native Korean costumes. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Chapman came as a member of the FBI and a veterinarian; Roger Anderson was another prize winner for his image of an English "dandy." Others joining the fun were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Radford, Mr. Fred Merrill, and Dr. Clancy Van Horn.

"Grand old Movies" every Friday and Saturday night at Carmel Valley's Tantomount Theatre continued this year beyond the usual summer season. Although audiences were small in the early fall, word has spread and the number attending has grown steadily. A Mrs. Bell comes faithfully each week from as far hence as Palo Colorado; others, like Elaine and Jack Taylor, who live within walking distance, enjoy arriving afoot. Among Valley residents seen last Saturday night were Irene Baldwin, Jim and Coraene Smith, Charles and Marion Crush, Chris Milo of White Oaks Theatre, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Stedman Wood.

Wearing everything from stretch jeans (well, one young lady!) to fur wraps, members of the audience crowded into the interesting Green Room for the traditional intermission coffee in demi-tasse china cups, overflowed onto the outdoor lobby with its soaring roofline and the surrounding, beautifully lighted giant oaks. So much style has the well-designed and exquisitely finished tiny theatre that it lends a festive atmosphere to any kind of presentation.

Bach Festival Chorus Auditions Feb. 8

Auditions, both vocal and instrumental, for the 1964 Bach Festival chorus will be held Saturday, February 8.

Both male and female voices will be needed for the major choral works to be presented and anyone with a good background in choral work is invited to audition.

Sandor Salgo, festival conductor and music director will personally audition all prospective new members. For appointments, telephone the Festival office - 624-3437.

Included in this year's program will be J. S. Bach's complete and uncut version of the B minor Mass, Mozart's Great Mass in C minor and Handel's "L'Allegro ed Il Penseroso."

Rehearsals are scheduled to begin Tuesday, February 18, and will take place weekly thereafter. Kenneth Ahrens, associated with the Bach Festival for several years as librarian and organist will be assistant to Mr. Salgo in training the chorus.

Mr. Ahrens holds a Master of Music degree in organ and is currently assistant university organist at Stanford University and organist at the First Christian Church in Palo Alto.

New Meeting Place For Community Church

Starting Sunday, Feb. 2, the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula will hold its worship services in the Nix Studio, Mission at 8th, Carmel, at 10:30 a. m. Dr. Ronald J. Menmuir will conduct services.

Music on the Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY OLIVER

The three biggest auditoriums in Carmel, Monterey and Salinas were crammed with children on January 11 to hear the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, besides an overflow of 100 sitting on the floor at Monterey High School. All alertly rose to sing the Star Spangled Banner, then listened to Conductor John Gosling's happy talk on instruments.

The program was Minuetto from Handel's Fireworks music; the first movement of the Haydn D Maj. concerto; the third movement of a Mozart Horn concerto; individual demonstrations of instruments; Sleigh Ride by Anderson; and the fourth movement of Symphony No. 1 - Jones. The two young soloists - pianist Linda Song and Haud Smith, french horn, both distinguished themselves with most creditable performances.

Keen attention and enthusiastic response came from the children for everything. The annual free children's concerts are presented by the Monterey and Salinas Junior Leagues as a community service.

About 1924 Ernest Schelling, American composer and conductor, founded the first Children's Concerts with the New York Philharmonic, including talks to the young audiences, some of which this writer heard when living in New York. His initiative and example were the cause of the now numberless children's concerts given wherever there is a symphony orchestra... and there are today over 1200 in America!

Surely, therefore, the rising generations will know and evaluate a great deal more music than most of their parents; also uphold music's prime necessity in general education as did the Greeks in their golden era. John Gosling and the players' contribution to this deserves appreciation and gratitude from the community.

Regrettably, it was not possible to go to Santa Catalina School for the two piano recital by good pianists. Duo piano performances are rare anywhere and the large concert hall of the school is a pleasant place to listen.

MPC presented on January 12 a 17 member chamber band of an unusual combination of instruments. The director, Jerry Coker, admitted he had never before known such a combination! The program dating from Morley (1557) to Reinecke and Kennan (1910) included three solo parts; two by Kem Buffo in the Vivaldi piccolo concerto, and Kennan Night Soliloquy, and Jerry Henares in the Larghetto by Chabrier, all well rendered.

The most interesting harmonic effect as a whole, however, was in the rendering of the Reinecke Prelude from King Manfred, the writing of which best lent itself to a balance of the sonorities of brasses and clarinets. Several members of the band are in the county orchestra including Kem Buffo and Jerry Henares. This group should be heard again!

Dr. Thorngate To Address Chapel Guild

A Hot Luncheon at 12:15 will begin the meeting of the Chapel Guild on February 12. After lunch Dr. Stephen Thorngate, surgeon and member of the Community Hospital Medical Staff, will tell of the time he spent as Head of the Ban Houei Sai Hospital in Laos, just 50 miles south of Communist China. A film will be shown along with the talk. Dr. Thorngate states that as many as 50 patients were treated in one day. The Hospital is on the border of Laos and Thailand.

Mrs. Charles Abbott is Chairman of the refreshment committee.

The general public is invited to attend this interesting program and Guild members and friends of the Chapel are asked to attend and bring guests along.

International Singing Star To Appear With Symphony

Nan Merriman will star with the Monterey County Symphony in performances of Mahler's "Songs of the Earth" on Feb. 4 at Sunset auditorium at 8:30 p. m.

A protege of the late Arturo Toscanini, Nan Merriman has been acclaimed by critics here and abroad as "One of the greatest singers of our time" (Het Parool, Amsterdam); "A powerful, brilliant voice" (New York Herald Tribune); "Perfection" (L'Unita, Milan); "Wonderful... sublime" (Chicago American); and "One of the great voices of our time" (El Paso Times).

Miss Merriman's rise to stardom began when as a young, unknown singer she made one 15-minute appearance on a "completely unimportant" broadcast, and got a break in a billion. Arturo Toscanini, then looking for a mezzo for an all Verdi program, heard the broadcast, traced her and commanded an audition.

Tickets for the performance which will take place at the Salinas High School auditorium at 8:15 p. m. are now available at Gadsby's Music Co. Other works in addition to "Songs of the Wayfarer" will include Creston's "Pre-Classical Suite," and Beethoven's Symphony No. 7.

Tickets for the Carmel performance are at a premium, and season ticket holders who may be unable to attend are asked to turn in their tickets for resale.

Semester Warnings

BY GALE HENDERSON

As the first semester draws to a close, progress reports (better known as "cinch notices" throughout the school), have been mailed to parents of some of the students of Carmel Junior High School. These notices inform the parents of the present state of their youngster's grades.

The reports are sent out only if the student has an incomplete to make up, if the student is doing exceptionally well, or if the student is doing exceptionally poor work.

The notices serve to warn students that report card time is but two weeks away and to make up the incomplete or get an automatic "F" on their card. Lagging students are often inspired to last minute efforts.

Campus Chatter

Carmel Junior High students are still teasing Coach Wes McWilliams about his recent spill while demonstrating a folk dance step to one of his physical education classes "Wait till next time" was the cry of 9th graders Marc Johnson, Rich Olson, Ty Seeders, Tom Custer and Ronnie Parsons after their recent encounter with the faculty of CJHS. Teaming up to teach the boys a lesson on the basketball court rather than in the classroom were Messrs. Neil Jensen, Bob Walthour, Dan Yurkovich, Ken Weise, Joe Broadman and Wes McWilliams Eighth grader Lance Crooks just returned from an exciting trip to Yosemite Wendy Grissim, Julie Fehring, Jeff Wickham and Rick Hermanson are among the CJHS students still talking about their meeting with Prescott Sullivan, ace Examiner sports writer Wendy "scooped" reporters from several of the big daily papers by catching Arnold Palmer at the Crosby for his first interview of the '64 Clambake, while the pros searched frantically for him Mary Arnold and her Irish setter were among the prize winners at the Golden Gate Dog Show held recently at the Cow Palace in San Francisco

New Math Course

BY CONNIE HOOD

An advanced math class at the Carmel Junior High School, taught by Commander Ariel Lane is being organized. It will be composed of the advanced seventh grade math students and will cover seventh, eighth and some ninth grade material in the class work.

The students who are going to be in the new course excel in class work, tests and "... have the ability to listen," says Mrs. Willie Belle Mason, one of the math teachers at the school. Mrs. Mason, who has done advanced study in mathematics, is considered one of the most capable of teachers.

Other class and schedule changes are also in the plans for the next semester, which begins Feb. 3.

CARMEL JUNIOR HIGH

Comprehensive Shop Course

BY JAY GRAHAM

Noise is one basic ingredient of the industrial arts class. It is mixed with good equipment, good material and the opportunity to choose your own project.

The industrial arts classroom at Carmel Junior High is one of the best equipped shops on the Monterey Peninsula. We have tools for both wood and metal as well as a special bench for electricity. New equipment will be coming in, and much of it will be electronic equipment.

Biology Receives
New Specimens

BY CLIFF PERRY

The biology classes of Carmel Junior High School received a new set of specimens, Mr. Marv Patterson, biology instructor, reported today. They were obtained from Captain Cooper School near Big Sur, which was recently added to the Carmel Unified School District.

The set of specimens contains many small animals, insects, worms, amphibians, and other marine animals. These will be used as replacements for Carmel Junior High's first set.

Mr. William Moritz, the industrial arts instructor at CJHS, teaches what he calls a comprehensive shop. In a comprehensive shop all three areas -- wood, metal, and electricity -- are taught as one subject. At CJHS everything is in the same room and advanced students can choose what they want to do for a project. Mr. Moritz takes beginning classes through the areas one at a time.

Shop classes at CJHS meet twice a week for a double period. This allows students more work time to the amount of time spent cleaning up. It also guarantees that industrial arts isn't over emphasized.

Junior Journalists Interview Clambake Celebs

BY WENDY GRISSIM

Carmel Junior High School reporters Wendy Grissim, Jeff Wickham, Ricky Hermanson, Connie Hood, and student body officers Mel Grimes and Julie Fehring were treated to an afternoon of meeting celebrities at the Crosby Tournament. It proved to be quite an exciting experience for all of them. Accompanying the students as chaperons were Mrs. Beverly Stoeltje, Neil Jensen, Dan Yurkovitch, and Mrs. Adele Gifford.

Part of the fun was being taken to the tournament in an official Bing Crosby Courtesy Car, after which we were driven to the Lodge as a stop-off place before we went to the press room. When we reached the press room, we were greeted by our other guide, Chronicle reporter Joe Wilmot. Mr. Wilmot then showed us around the news room, which was not too busy at the moment, except that scores were continually being reported in to the score keepers.

Reporters from all over the country were seated at their typewriters, and now and then one reporter would start madly typing a story in order to meet the deadline for his paper. Then we were taken over to the Western Union Telegraph Press Center in the room where Paul Reedy, in charge of operating this machine, told us that all stories were telegraphed to the different papers from this Press Center to the Western Union Press Center in San Francisco and from there they were relayed to all the different papers for which the reporters on the assignment work.

After meeting Mr. Reedy, the chaperons let us go about the room to pick up some interesting news from the reporters.

SULLIVAN

The most interesting reporter of all was Mr. Prescott Sullivan, who is the top sports writer for the San Francisco Examiner. Many consider him among the best in the nation. He had just come in from looking at whales on the 18th green, and it was said that I was very fortunate in catching him before he left again. Mr. Sullivan told me about how he had never even been through seventh grade English, and had never taken Journalism. But his articles show a true talent for writing despite this. I thanked Mr. Sullivan for the interview, and quickly joined Connie Hood and Jeff Wickham for an interview with Arnold Palmer.

BACKUS

Among the people we interviewed, Jim Backus, more commonly known as "Mr. Magoo" of television, stood out in my mind as a real character with lots of personality. After I got his autograph, I went with the others to the NBC Broadcasting Network set-up where we were introduced to Ralph Clemens, the field supervisor for the network.

We had to leave the complicated set-up because it was very busy getting ready for the next two days when the tournament would be on the air.

Anyway, it was time to be starting home. We went back up to the news room where our pictures were taken with Prescott Sullivan, grouped around his typewriter. As the pictures were being taken, Mr. Sullivan was typing, "The Carmel Junior High School is the best junior high school in Carmel."

We wonder if he knew it is the only junior high in Carmel!

Book Mobile Adds Rancho Center To Its Route

The Bookmobile of the Monterey County Library will be making two stops on its Valley run every other Friday this year. From 10:00 a.m. until 12:00 the traveling library will be parked at Farm Center as per long-time custom. Open House February 5 At Logan Hall

With an Open House on February 5, Logan Hall PTA and the Salinas Valley Council for Retarded Children are joining in the observance of the 10th anniversary of the founding of Logan Hall and Bard Blades School in Salinas -- the 2 schools operated by the County School system for the trainable retarded.

Logan Hall is now located on Carmel Valley Road across from Carmelo School in the "old Carmelo School" building which in more recent years housed the kindergartens for Carmelo.

The public is cordially invited to Logan Hall between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. and in the evening from 7:00 to 9:00. During the day, visitors will observe the youngsters at work and at play -- the routine of an ordinary school day. In the evening, refreshments will be served.

Among those on the welcoming committee will be Mrs. Frank Lang of Carmel Valley, Mrs. Howard E. Stephens and Mrs. Carle Blackman of Carmel, and Mrs. Anita Church of Monterey. They will be assisted by the teaching staff. Credentialed teachers at Logan Hall are Mrs. Mary Kier and Miss Karen Ewoldsen. Teaching assistants are Mr. Kier, who is in charge of manual arts training, and Mrs. Nina Alioti, who instructs in the home-making arts.

Horse Tales

BY ALLENE BUCKENROTH

The new green grass that is flourishing in the wake of the rain is not really very good food for our horses yet, for it has grown too fast and is mostly water. Gale, my mare, reaches for it but quickly seeks another place, then another, feeling sure that such luscious looking fare must taste right if she can only find the right bite.

But no -- we must still rely on good old hay until the sun has slowly brought the grass to a more nutrient-filled condition. This doesn't mean that the foolish creatures won't push the fences down trying to get to the deceiving stuff!

RIDERS

Most everybody got out on a horse during the holidays. Jim Ziegler on his grey wanders along and enjoys the trails and I saw Martha, his daughter, working the big fellow in the ring. Arlie White, Ballard White's daughter, was making very good practice time around the barrels on Sunday. . . . The Andy Wolfs who were taking care of the two Pack horses while the Packs are in Europe now have three of their own; one of those wonders that anyone can ride and have fun -- a quarter mare of sleek lines who is "in waiting" for an appaloose baby, and a sweet slim filly coming two that Lee is going to learn to train for her very own saddle mare.

Mrs. Polly Boardman has come to the Valley to stay and ride her lovely grey Arab mare that Mr. Clark has trained and boarded for her in past years. Both will soon be living in the Picton Place in La Rancheria, which Mrs. Boardman recently purchased.

Donna Carter and Toddy, her black "walking horse" mare are awaiting a big event, for Toddy was bred to Rabashi, the Clark stallion, last year.

Stan Holmes (he dances as well as he rides we hear) can be seen on his proud cream mare leading the only local offspring of Rabashi. She is a dainty curly-maned lady of tender months who seems to enjoy thoroughly the expeditions she makes with Stan and her mother.

I also have a new mare -- and

Open Play Day At T&S Club

The Junior Division of the Trail and Saddle Club, under the leadership of Ann Warmington and Cindy Young, invites everyone to participate in an Open Play Day on Saturday, February 1, beginning about 10:30 a. m. Fifty cents entry fee will qualify riders for all day. Since the management has no refreshment facilities, participants and spectators are advised to bring their own lunches.

Six events will be offered including Western Pleasure, to be judged by Andree Forzani, and an unusual Hurry Scurry Trail Race. Ribbons for first to fourth places and a high point trophy will be awarded. Classes will be 17 and under; 18 and over.

All horse owners in the mood for a day of pure riding fun are urged to enter. The cooperation of the weather man is most earnestly solicited!

she is a delight, with her long light stride and her sweet disposition. I hope to raise many colts from her for my grandchildren to learn about and enjoy.

Aren't horses fun?

Watch the footing, you riders! Both the trails and the churning river can be dangerous this time of year.

THE BRAVE LITTLE TAILOR, played by Don Mulderick is surrounded by Chris Milo as Brother Giant and Jonathan Hugger as Giant in the Fantasy Players' production to be presented next on February 1 at Sunset Auditorium.

Littlebits To Sponsor Children's Play

"The Brave Little Tailor," White Oaks Fantasy Players' current production for children, will move to Sunset Auditorium in Carmel on February 1, under the sponsorship of the Littlebits Chapter of the Children's Home Society of California. Performances will take place at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. Tickets are fifty cents, and may be obtained at the door as well as the Central Box Office in Carmel, or from any chapter member.

Members of the Littlebits will provide adult supervision during the play. Valley members of the chapter include Mrs. Donald W. Schma, Mrs. G. G. Lefler, Mrs. Edwin L. McPhee, and Mrs. Walter T. Stuefloten. All proceeds will go to the Children's Home Society which maintains an office at 499 Van Buren St., Monterey, to assist anyone interested in the possible adoption of a child.

NCCOPSIS To Meet Here

From as far as Santa Rosa and San Luis Obispo, a group of outstanding science teachers will converge next Saturday morning on Carmel Junior High School for a meeting of NCCOPSIS (Northern California Committee on Problem Solving in Science.) Local members planning the meeting are Albert C. Kolb of the Junior High and Bruce Henderson of Pacific Grove High School.

NCCOPSIS was formed 9 years ago by a group of science teachers unhappy with then-current methods of teaching their subject. The group has since attracted considerable attention, having written many of the new curricula now in use in schools in this country and contributed articles to professional journals in England.

Superintendent Medill Bair will welcome the group Saturday morning, and Dr. Walter Klas, principal of the Junior High, will discuss class scheduling procedures at the school as these permit more flexibility in science class activities -- including field trips up to 1-1/2 hours in length.

The group will then accompany Mr. Kolb and his students on a field trip.
